

Example

Abraham,

Son of Thomas and Nancy Hanks Lincoln.

Who believed that hard work was part of life, reading could be learned on your own, and that Sarah was a good mother.

Who feared raids from Indians, the milk fever that killed his mother, and a divided country.

Who loved his step mother's books, to learn about law, and the idea of one nation under God.

Who needed help splitting wood, an easier way to get books, and an easy way to solve the issue of slavery.

Who would have liked to have seen a nation un-divided, a civil war avoided and the public school system of today.
